We The Student Body Of
Dinuba High School
In The Year Nineteen Hundred And Sixty-Seven
Dedicate This Annual To
Fred Batkin Rudolph Johnson

In dedicating the Delphic Echoes this year, the annual staff is selecting two members of the Board of Trustees who will not be serving the Dinuba High School this coming year. As these two men have given more than a total of a Quarter Century of service to the High School District, the annual staff felt that this recognition would be in order.

The students and faculty of Dinuba High School dedicate this annual for long and meritorious devotion to the welfare of young people in this school district. May we express our thanks.

The many hours given to the continuous improvement of education in our school will be remembered by the parents and students of Dinuba High School for many years.

Dear '67 graduates,

To you, the class of '67, graduation will usher in a new and exciting way of life. It is the hope of the faculty at Dinuba Joint Union High School that your learning will not cease at this point. Much lies ahead in the fields of learning and, to be successful in this era, you must acquire knowledge of a broader scope than the preceding generation.

Looking back on your accomplishments this year, we note that the athletic teams showed a resurgence of vigor and the won-lost records were good. The school spirit of the seniors was refreshing. The academic achievement of the class was high and it is believed that those seniors who pursue higher education and advanced degrees will not encounter scholastic difficulties. Being realistic, we know that many of you will not pursue educational goals and will enter the vocational field of your choice. This is as it should be - not all high school graduates are motivated to continue in the academic field. We are hopeful that all of you will find a place for yourself in this wonderful world where you will be happy and contribute to our growing society.

In launching the largest graduating class in the history of Dinuba Joint Union High School, the faculty and administration wish you unlimited horizons and a zest for attaining your goals.

Boys And Ghouls Together

The Great Marvelini trying to hypnotize Granny into giving
Buddy Ford the antidote

Junior Class Play

The play "Boys and Ghouls Together" was presented by sixteen members of the Junior class on January 6, 1967. It was directed by Mrs. Hamilton.

"Boys and Ghouls Together" was about a group of Americans traveling across Europe on bicycles. They stayed overnight at an old castle which had been turned into a hotel. Count Dracula (played by Ronnie Mortanian) and his wife Letha (Pat Bunting), the very strange owners of the castle, attempted to match their daughter Dirga (Candy Yost) with Buddy Ford (Lester Drew), a member of the hotel group who they believed was related to the car manufacturers. However, Buddy is unwilling, so Granny (Tammy Wooley) mixes up a potion. After drinking, Buddy falls in love with Dirga and wants to remain in Europe and marry her, much to the dismay of his bewildered fiancée, Barbara Ames (Connie Klassen). When the Magnificent Marvelini (Terry Michaelson) turns up looking for Isabel Connors (Johanne Ehly), who he had met at a carnival the night before, it is discovered that he is Murdock Svengale, Dirga's ideal husband. But Granny refuses to make the antidote for Buddy. Finally the aid of Model S (Mike Paredes) the man-made butler, is enlisted, and Buddy drinks the antidote. Thus the hostellers can leave and the play ends on a happy note.

Daphne Clifton played Fritz Washburn, the athletic hotel group leader. Hostellers included: Buddy; Barbara; Isabel; Ron Connors (Richard Smith)- Isabel's brother; Eddie Phelps (Frank Andrade), who idolizes Fritz's athletic talents; Merry Bean (Janet Ewert) an easily upsettable young lady who clings to Evelyn Robinson (Karlene Olson) for security; and Nancy Brown (Linda Watson) who is stylish and intent on flattering Ron into carrying her packs. Hidi Scholz played the German postmistress Frau Hubschmidt.

Elaine Sadoian and Bonnie Thiessen acted as student stage directors. Abe Penner served as lighting technician. Glenn Foote and Ron Belcher were in charge of curtains, and Linda Hutchens produced the sound effects. The play was produced by Mrs. Hamilton's period B Drama Class.
